

How to Find a Trustworthy Lawyer

How can you tell when a lawyer is lying?

Their lips are moving.

What's the difference between a lawyer and a liar?

The pronunciation.

Since I am a lawyer, jokes like these always sting a bit.

But they beg the bigger question -- are lawyers trustworthy?

If you're just listening to the punchlines of those jokes, the answer is no. People do not trust lawyers.

I think that's because the bad apples have ruined the bunch.

There are, undoubtedly, bad lawyers who lie, cheat, and steal. (I don't mind saying that I know a couple.)

But that isn't all of us.

If you're going through bad times and you need a lawyer, the best advice I can give is that you shop around for one that is trustworthy.

What should you look for?

Let me offer what I believe to be the most helpful tip: check their online reviews.

I think mine speak for themselves:

"The Jones law firm helped me settle my divorce affordably, quickly, and effortlessly. I found Mr. Jones to be upfront, honest, and he kept me informed through the entire process. I highly recommend this law firm!"

~ Jocelyn Mabrey

"Excellent job! Couldn't ask for a more helpful lawyer. He made every step of my case clear and keep me well informed. He is an all around good person and a great lawyer!"

~ Aaron Moreau

"My recent need for legal assistance was made easier with all questions answered with confidence and on a level that i could understand. I remained updated with personal phone calls and emails. Being treated with respect as well as a good handshake is service i appreciate."

~ Ed

People are not shy about commenting on social media. You should use that feedback to decide if you can trust your potential lawyer.

Many lawyers are, indeed, trustworthy. I believe that I am.

If you need me, and you decide to hire me, I know that you'll come to the same conclusion.

Meet Attorney Davey Jones:

Since 2009, I've served the people of Alexandria and surrounding areas to seek justice and right the wrongs inflicted against them. I've kept my firm and case load small, so that I can deeply know and understand all aspects of every case I take on. It's my mission to be available to my clients and maintain clear and open communication.

I believe that the practice of law is an honor, not a privilege. It is an honor to be able to aid my clients through difficult and trying times – and to put my full focus on what's most important to them in their lives right now.

If you or a family member has been injured, or is going through a difficult family legal matter at this time, please call my office to schedule a free consultation. It's absolutely free, and no strings attached.

I look forward speaking with you,

Howell D. Jones, IV "Davey"
